COCKTAIL SIGNATURES

PHAN THIET DROP: Ciroc Vodka, Grapefruit Juice, Green Pepper Syrup, Lime, Phan Thiet fish sauce AKA ‘nước mắm’, dried anchovy

Phan Thiết is a renowned fish sauce that embodies the cultural heritage and traditional craftsmanship of Phan Thiết. Made from fresh anchovies fermented in large wooden barrels, this fish sauce is known for its amber color, rich umami flavor, and subtle sweetness. Over the centuries, Nước mắm Phan Thiết has become a culinary symbol of the region, reflecting the pride and dedication of the local community. In this cocktail creation, you will taste the flavor of Nuoc Mam at its finest, combined with the fresh pepper from Phu Quoc Island, a unique cocktail signature experience!

GARDEN BLOSSOM: Lady Trieu Da Lat - Flowerbomb Gin, lychee Juice, Lime, homemade Bougainvillea flower syrup, sparkling water, alcohol infused citrus gummy bears

In Central Vietnam, Bougainvillea is cherished for its vibrant colors and drought resistance, commonly used to beautify gardens and public spaces. Symbolizing hospitality, it's often seen at entrances, reflecting the warm local welcome. Combined with a floral gin from the highlands of Vietnam, this unique signature cocktail is a fresh and crisp recipe that will surprise you.

RIPPED DRAGON: Jamaica Rum, Homemade Dragon Fruit Syrup, Kombucha

Grown in the region's sandy coastal soil and ideal climate, the fruit's distinctive appearance, with its bright pink or red skin and unique shape, makes it a standout symbol of Phan Thiết. Called the 'Queen of the Night', the Dragon fruit plants produce large, fragrant flowers that only bloom at night. The fruit also packs a punch and is well known for its nutritive properties, antioxidants & particularly vitamin C. This signature concoction brings an exotic twist to the dragon fruit while the kombucha brings a touch of tartness and fizz, balancing the sweetness and adding a healthy fermented element. It's a creative blend of flavors, perfect for summer cocktail.

PREMIUM CLASSICS

M O J I T O	● PASSION MOJITO: Sampan Rhum 43°, Havana Club 7, Mint, Passion Fruit, Soda, Flavored Popsicle	320
	● LEMONGRASS MOJITO: Sampan Rhum 43°, Havana Club 7, Mint, Lemongrass, Lemongrass Syrup, Soda, Flavored Popsicle	320
	● BERRY MOJITO: Sampan Rhum 43°, Havana Club 7, Mint, Mixed Berries, Soda, Flavored Popsicle	360
The Mojito's story begins in 16th-century Cuba with a drink called "El Draque," made with aguardiente, lime, mint, and sugar. By the 19th century, aguardiente was replaced by rum, and the modern Mojito was born. Popularized in Havana and enjoyed by figures like Ernest Hemingway, the Mojito became famous for its refreshing blend of rum, lime, mint, sugar, and soda water. Today, it remains a classic cocktail, celebrated for its invigorating taste and Cuban roots.
M A R T I N I	● ESPRESSO MARTINI: Grey Goose Vodka, Italian Arabica Coffee, Vietnamese Robusta Coffee, Kahlua	340
	● LYCHEE MARTINI: Lady Trieu Citrus Tea Gin, Lychee, Dry Vermouth	300
	● FROZEN GUAVA MARTINI: Song Cai Floral Gin, Guava, Dry Vermouth, Lime	350
The Martini's origins are debated. One story credits its creation to bartender Jerry Thomas at the Occidental Hotel in San Francisco in the 1860s, who made it for a gold miner heading to Martinez, California. Another version suggests it was first mixed in Martinez itself. The classic Martini is made with gin and dry vermouth, garnished with an olive or lemon twist. It gained fame in the 20th century, partly due to James Bond's preference for it "shaken, not stirred." Today, the Martini remains a symbol of sophistication and elegance, enjoyed worldwide.
M A R G A R I T A	● MANGO MARGARITA: Lunazul Primero, Jose Cuervo Silver, Cointreau, Lime, Mango, Chilli Salted Rim, Flavored Popsicle	320
	● DRAGON MARGARITA: Lunazul Primero, Jose Cuervo Silver, Cointreau, Lime, Dragon Fruit, Flavored Popsicle	320
	● CHILI PASSION MARGARITA: Lunazul Primero, Jose Cuervo Silver, Cointreau, Lime, Dried Chilli Flakes, Flavored Popsicle	320
The Margarita, created in the 1930s or 1940s, has several origin stories. One credits Carlos "Danny" Herrera, a bartender near Tijuana, who made it for a customer allergic to all spirits except tequila. Another attributes it to socialite Margarita Sames, who invented it at a party in Acapulco in 1948. The classic Margarita combines tequila, lime juice, and Cointreau or triple sec, served in a salted-rim glass. It gained popularity in the U.S. in the 1950s and 1960s and remains a beloved, versatile cocktail enjoyed worldwide.

PREMIUM CLASSICS

S P R I T Z	BERRY SPRITZ: Aperol, Blueberry, Raspberry, Strawberry, Blackcurrant Syrup, Brut Sparkling Wine	390
	HERBAL SPRITZ: Aperol, Basil, D.O.M, Smoked Rosemary, Brut Sparkling Wine	390
	APEROL SPRITZ: Aperol, Orange, Soda, Brut Sparkling Wine	390
	The Spritz originated in the Veneto region of Italy in the 19th century, when Austrian soldiers began adding soda water to local wines. Over time, liqueurs like Aperol and Campari were added to create flavorful variations. The Aperol Spritz, combining Aperol, Prosecco, and soda water, became popular in the early 2000s for its vibrant color and refreshing taste. It remains a classic cocktail associated with the Italian “aperitivo” culture.
	BLOODY MARY: Grey Goose Vodka, Tomato Juice, Tabasco, Worcestershire, Lime	280
	In the 1920s Paris, bartender Fernand Petiot was known for his inventive cocktails. One day, he mixed vodka with tomato juice and spices, creating a unique drink he called the “Red Snapper.” It was a hit at Harry’s New York Bar.
	When the cocktail crossed the Atlantic to New York City, it was rebranded as the “Bloody Mary,” possibly named after the fiery Queen Mary I of England or a Chicago waitress named Mary.
	BEE’S KNEES: Baigur Gin, Spearmint Honey, Lime	300
	The Bee’s Knees cocktail originated during Prohibition in the 1920s, when bartenders used mixers to improve the taste of bootleg alcohol. The name “Bee’s Knees” was a slang term for something excellent. The drink combines gin, fresh lemon juice, and honey, creating a balanced and refreshing flavor. It fell out of favor after Prohibition but has enjoyed a revival in recent years, celebrated for its simple elegance and historical charm.
	SINGAPORE SLING: Tanqueray 10, Cointreau, Cherry Brandy, D.O.M, Grenadine Syrup, Pineapple, Lime, Angostura Bitter	370
	In the early 20th century, Singapore was a bustling port city with a vibrant mix of cultures. At the Raffles Hotel, a bartender named Ngiam Tong Boon crafted a new cocktail for the hotel’s guests. Inspired by the diverse flavors of the region, Ngiam combined gin, cherry brandy, and a mix of tropical fruit juices to create a refreshing and unique drink.
	He called it the Singapore Sling, and it quickly became popular among travelers and locals alike. Its bright, fruity flavour and distinctive pink color made it a hit, capturing the spirit of Singapore in a glass.
	BASIL GIN SMASH: Song Cai Dry Gin, Lime, Honey, Fresh Basil	320
	The Basil Gin Smash emerged from the craft cocktail movement of the early 2000s. Inspired by the Whiskey Smash, bartenders created this refreshing drink by muddling fresh basil with gin, lemon juice, and simple syrup. Its unique herbaceous flavor quickly gained popularity, making it a favorite for those seeking a modern and flavourful cocktail.

PREMIUM CLASSICS

LONG ISLAND ICED TEA: Sampan 43° Rhum, TA Vodka, Bombay Sapphire Gin, Jose Cuervo Silver, Cointreau, Lemon, Coke 390

The Long Island Iced Tea was created in the 1970s in Long Island, New York. Bartender Robert “Rosebud” Butt is often credited with its invention as part of a cocktail contest. The drink combines vodka, gin, rum, tequila, triple sec, sour mix, and cola, and though it resembles iced tea, it contains no actual tea. Its smooth yet potent flavor quickly made it popular, and it has since become a classic cocktail known for its robust taste and deceptive appearance.

PIÑA COLADA: Sampan Rhum Overproof 54°, Cachaca Sagatiba Pura, Malibu, Pineapple Juice, Coconut Milk 420

The Pina Colada originated in Puerto Rico in the 1950s, created by bartender Ramón “Monchito” Marrero at the Caribe Hilton Hotel. He combined rum, coconut cream, and pineapple juice to capture the island’s tropical flavors. The drink quickly became popular and was declared the official drink of Puerto Rico in 1978. Its international fame soared with Rupert Holmes’ 1979 hit “Escape (The Pina Colada Song).” Today, the Pina Colada is a beloved symbol of tropical relaxation enjoyed worldwide.

WHISKY SOUR: Bulleit Bourbon, Lime, Egg White, Angostura Bitters 260

The Whisky Sour is a classic cocktail with origins in the mid-19th century, likely created by sailors to make whisky more palatable and prevent scurvy with citrus juice. The first written recipe appeared in Jerry Thomas’s 1862 book “The Bartender’s Guide.”

This timeless drink typically includes whisky (often bourbon), fresh lemon juice, and simple syrup, shaken with ice and served straight up or over ice. Traditional garnishes include a maraschino cherry and an orange slice. Variations, like the Boston Sour, add egg white for a frothier texture.

Celebrated for its simplicity and balance, the Whisky Sour remains a staple in cocktail bars worldwide.

GINGER SPIKED MOSCOW MULE: Ketel One, Ginger Juice, Lime, Soda, Sugar Syrup 300

The Moscow Mule originated in the 1940s through a collaboration between John Martin, who promoted Smirnoff vodka, Jack Morgan, owner of the Cock ‘n’ Bull bar, and Sophie Berezinski, who provided copper mugs. They combined vodka, ginger beer, and lime juice, creating the now-iconic cocktail served in a copper mug. The drink quickly became popular, especially in Hollywood, and played a key role in introducing vodka to American drinkers.
