Experiences

Location & history

Anantara New York Palace is located on the Pest side of the Danube, on one of the city's most important boulevards – perfect for taking in the city's most fascinating sights and cultural attractions.

The building opened in 1894 as the opulent European headquarters for the New York Life insurance Company.

The eclectic, Belle Époque palace was designed by Alajos Hauszmann, a famous Austro-Hungarian architect, who drew on Italian Renaissance, Baroque, Gothic and Art Nouveau influences. Upon opening, the first two floors of the palace were occupied by New York Life's offices; the other floors were used as living quarters for the firm's employees. During WWI and WWII, it closed its doors and the building suffered significant damage.

In the 1950s, it was used as a sports shop and tourism offices, before closing for a period in the 1990s.

It reopened as a luxury hotel in May 2006, and in 2020, the hotel was added to the portfolio of Anantara Hotels & Resorts.
