

Anna Maria Russell, the 7th Duchess of Bedford was a lifelong friend of Queen Victoria, whom she served as a Lady of the Bedchamber.

Anna is said to have complained of "having that sinking feeling" during the late afternoon. She would become hungry around four o'clock in the afternoon. The evening meal in her household was served fashionably late at eight o'clock, thus leaving a long period of time between lunch and dinner. At the time it was usual for people to take only two main meals a day, breakfast and dinner at around 8 o'clock in the evening. In Dubai social smoking is done with a single or double hose hookah, and sometimes even triple or quadruple hose hookahs are used at parties or small get-togethers. When the smoker is finished, s/he either places the hose back on the table, signifying that it is available, or hands it from one user to the next, folded back on itself so that the mouthpiece is not pointing at the recipient.

People in Middle East smoke waterpipes as part of their culture and traditions. Local names of waterpipe in the Arab Countries are, argila, čelam/čelīm, ghalyan, ħoqqa, nafas, nargile, and in United Arab of Emirates we call it “Shisha”.
